The new Health Behaviors Seminar series is designed to foster interdepartmental collaboration and engagement in research related to health behaviors, especially as it relates to diabetes and obesity prevention and management. This seminar will be held the 2nd Thursday of each month from 3-4pm, light refreshments will be provided.

Sponsored by the Diabetes and Metabolism Research Center and the Driving Out Diabetes, a Larry H. Miller Family Wellness Initiative, this monthly series will feature both internal and external speakers and is open to all faculty, trainees, and staff across the University of Utah to attend. Please join us!
